RENAISSANCE OF REPUBLICAN ALLEGIANCES
Before the national elections of 1912 the state has been Progressive and Republican in name. Governor Johnson, elected as a Republican, was a candidate with Theodore Roosevelt on the National Progressive ticket and the state was split to defeat him and Johnson appointed as a member of the state supreme court, held no place for electors, had to fail and Sherman, the nominal Republican national candidate at Chicago.

Governor Johnson, Chairman, overcame Johnson, after his address ended, was made permanent chairman of the meeting. "PANAMERICAN POLICY
URGED BY BARRETT

English-Speaking Nations
Held by Ties Never to Be Severed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—That the day is dawning when international peace and brotherhood shall prevail and when wars shall be no more, was the tenor of all the speeches at the closing session here today of the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes. Justice William Brewster Riddell of the high court of Ontario, at a banquet of the society tonight, spoke of the close ties binding the English-speaking nations, and declared the man who would try to stir up a feeling between any of the three branches of these nations would not only be "a traitor to his own country but to the world," because the world was looking to them to push to victory the international peace idea.

Referring to the Panama canal toll dispute between Great Britain and the United States, he said it was not a matter of great importance how the question was settled, but what was of importance was that it might be settled right. The American people, he said, were the guardians of their own honor and the English people were certain the American people would ultimately do what they ought to do. He asserted he asked for no treaty between the English-speaking nations, no formal union, for stronger than any parchment bond was the moral law holding them together.

Jose F. Godoy, Mexican minister to Cuba, made a plea that this country help Mexico return once more to peace. David Jayne Hill, former ambassador to Germany, expressed the opinion the day was not distant when there would be a court of international justice. John Barrett urged an enlargement of the Monroe doctrine into what he called a "panamerican policy" where each nation would have the same rights of attitude, the same dignity of position and the same sense of independence as the United States now had.

Elder, whether the government of Mexico was not planning a campaign of considerable extent further south and whether the comparatively undisciplined rebel forces might not have to contend with greater numbers and superior fighting machinery.

Chihuahua Chases Hounds Today.

Noon tomorrow was fixed by General Villa for his entry into Chihuahua, the state capital, evacuated a week ago by General Mercado, who, with six other generals and 5,000 troops and civilians, is fleeing toward the border at Ojinaga.

General Villa tonight was encamped at Basut, about 30 miles north of Ciudad Juarez. Communication between the city and his camp was by courier, as the telegraph lines between the points had not been restored.

General M. M. Moore, the civil governor, announced his readiness to turn the city over to the new authority. It is the first time since the days before President Diaz that this capital had changed authority while a revolution was pending. The event will be signalized by the ringing of bells and the blowing of bugles.

Word came from the vicinity of Ojinaga, on the Texas border, that General Mercado and the other federal officers and troops were moving slowly and many of the civilian were on foot, and the rebels had gunboats—not to disturb them until the border was reached. The picturesque exodus of the people across the desert has attracted thousands of people to Piedras Negras, opposite Ojinaga.

Somewhere behind the refugees, a billion train is struggling across the desert with $2,500,000 from the silver mines at Parral.

Parral has been cut off from train service for months and it was decided to bring the silver to the border in wagons.

Street Car Crew Opens Four Lines

With little wind and with the snow melting, the track crews of the Colorado Springs and Interurban railway were able to do effective work yesterday. The lines were opened as follows: North Tejon street to corner of Nevada avenue and Cache la Poudre street; Stratton park and Broadmoor lines to Maple street in Iveywood; Colorado City and Mapion lines to Blevins street; west Colorado Springs; Institute line to corner of Institute and Plaza.

Officials at the car barns last night would not venture a prediction as to when all the lines would be opened for traffic. It will be impossible to operate the Manitou line until Monday noon at least, in the estimate of officials. The snow has drifted badly in the cuts on the west end of the line and unless the weather becomes extremely warm the work of sending the plows through the drifts will be difficult, because the snow has assumed the consistency of ice.

The snow has been hard packed over the right of way on North Tejon street above San Rafael and the track gang

They ought to be for these reasons:

SECOND—The lower operating expenses of this store and the specializing of clothes at Fifteen and Twenty Dollars.

THIRD—We offer daylight choosing to men—they can see exactly what they buy.

the ranges. Horses and cattle have been frozen to death while the smaller animals, sheep and hogs, were lost in large numbers. Some of the ranchmen hold out hope that their stock "hunkered" for warmth. Several flocks of sheep perished, despite the fact that they kept together.

The wind of Friday night and the drop in temperature added to the terror of the night for stock and the storm will probably cause a greater loss to men in this line of business than in any other.

All roads were impassable during the storm and ranchmen were unable to go to the smaller towns for provisions. However, the majority were supplied with plenty for the winter and with enough fuel there was little suffering reported, proportionately less, than in Colorado Springs.

W. P. Larabee, county road overseer, is making an effort to get the county roads open but it will be at least a week before all the highways will be passable. He had a large gang of men detail his troops had captured a military train bearing the federal troops of Gen. Rubio Navarro to reinforce the capital, capturing many prisoners, horses, ammunition and supplies.

General Gonzales also said that his troops have captured Linares and Montmorelos, two towns near Monterey.

There will have difficulties in cutting out the roadway. On the Stratton park branch the snow is not so hard packed but it is not believed that the line can be cleared there today. The smaller roads, such as the Noh Hill, Printers Home, Cemetery, Golf club, Roswell and Spruce street will not be opened for several days as the main trunk lines will be cleared first.

Monition was as completely shut off from the world as it could have been with the exception of telephone communication. The roads are piled high with heavy snow, and despite the efforts of the town officials the roads were not cleared yesterday. Plows are being used and as many men as possible have been drafted into service to open up the streets. As there have been no deliveries by wholesale houses some of the stores ran short of provisions and a coal shortage would have been threatened had there been another day of the blizzard.

A NEGLECTED COUGH—TRIED MANY REMEDIES.

Mrs. Amber Norris, R.R. #1, Ashland, Ohio writes: "I will endeavor to write you a few lines in regard to your good medicine Peruna. I am proud to say that I am positive Peruna cured our little boy, aged two years, of a cough which stayed with him all winter. Tried all kinds of medicine, without relief. We got a bottle of Peruna and he ceased coughing immediately."

I cannot praise it enough and I will advise every mother to keep Peruna at hand for children or adults for I believe it will cure a good many diseases where doctor's medicine fails."

mission that the rate of postage on parcels containing books, weighing eight ounces or less shall be 1 cent for each two ounces or fractional part thereof, and on those weighing in excess of eight ounces the zone parcel rates shall apply.

Catalog Houses Object.

This is to be effective March 1, 1914.

Serious objections to the proposed changes in the rates on books and catalogues were made by mail-order and heavy catalogues, but the commission says it feels that the changes are in the interest of the public generally.

Comment also was given by the commission to the admission of the miners of gold, gold bullion and gold dust in Alaska in packages weighing not more than 11 pounds. The rate of postage fixed is 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof for all distances.

The postmaster general issued an order effective August 1, 1913, increasing the weight limit in the first and second zone from 11 to 12½ pounds and materially reducing the rate of postage for these zones in view of that time that the state of the nature of an external statement of rates to Alaska is still待定.

Means Increase Postage

After three long and effect for some time the result was kept of packages sent from the large to the rest of the United States. From these offices the miners in the service frequently appeared by the railroads in order to obtain the latest news and were known to have been shown a rate approximately of per cent. This average postage was increased from 11 to 12½ pounds a parcel and notwithstanding the great reduction in rates in the first and second zones the average postage was increased from 11 to 12½ cents per ounce.

It is stated that the miners have been told that it has strong bearing on the increasing charges that the miners' bladders are not so strong as the miners' stomachs.

It is further stated that the miners are not so strong as the miners' stomachs.

LOPEZ HAS ESCAPED FROM UTAH MINES

No Trace Found of Duperado; Search Halts When Officers Quarrel

BINGHAM, Utah, Dec. 6.—Search of over half the labyrinth of the Utah Apex mine for Ralph Lopez, Mexican gunman, was completed tonight without result. The probability that the outlaw of six men had escaped grew as deputies appeared at the various tunnel mouths with the announcement that no sign of the desperado dead or alive had been found.

The poisonous gases forced into the mine for the purpose of asphyxiating Lopez, following his killing of two deputies in an underground battle a week ago, were cleared from all the passages and tonight the search was continued in parts not yet explored.

Officers Quarrel

A dispute between a posse of Bingham citizens and the sheriffs arose today, which for a time brought the search to a standstill. Sheriff Alvin T. Tolles, county sheriff of Bingham and other local men who composed search party, of having paid a sum of $1,000 that Lopez would be found dead or alive, in the mine. As an outgrowth of this the Bingham men, who were most familiar with the mine, refused to reenter until late today, when the disagreement was adjusted.

The removal of a cave-in in the upper workings showed that Lopez had not taken refuge in the steep behind it as he was thought. Over 200 miners, who were thrown out of employment when the mine was closed in order to fill it with gas returned to work in the lower levels today.

'THE GIRL FROM MUMM'S' PROVIDES GOOD COMEDY

Several Musical Numbers Also Please—But Show Needs Touching Up in Spots.

By F. R. W.

Musical shows are divided into three classes—those "brimful of lively catchy tunes that you can't help whistling the next morning," those "treated with bright, sparkling comedy that keeps the house in an uproar from start to finish" and those whose success "are earned by virtue of the beautifully gowned women, elaborate settings and marvelous electrical effects." Supposedly all musical comedies find their niche in one of these classes.

But "The Girl From Mumma," which came to the Opera house last night, proved the exception to the rule. Its success is due neither to catch-tunes sparkling comedy nor elaborate presentation—rather it is a combination of the first two with latter barely touched. There are several very good musical numbers and at times the situations are comical enough to bring forth a hearty laugh. In other words, "The Girl From Mumma" is good in spots.

Taking into consideration the almost impossible condition of sidewalks and streets, the audience, which greeted the show last night was exceptionally good. And to an outward appearance it was enlisted. Cold at first, the house gradually warmed up until during the last act it was in an almost continual uproar. All credit for which is due Miss Olive Vail, for this coming home her press agent calls her a prima donna—is able of bringing forth a laugh at almost any time regardless of what the lines may be.

Miss Vail uses much original business and uses it with such good effect that at times her supporting company find it hard to carry their parts.

Although J. L. Oliveras as Jack Hamill was surprised to vie with Miss Vail for much honor, Miss Marjorie Dow as Mrs. Anglenwood, the heavy and credulous grandmother of the girls, is granted his laurels. Of course she did involuntarily out strong the reins. At that Mr. Oliveras looked admiringly at John E. Frank as Lafe A. Gleason, who was very skillfully in his duet with Miss Vail.

Many House Inundated.

HARRIS, Tex., Dec. 6.—Fifteen persons are known to be dead and scores of others are reported to have lost their lives in the floods which have been sweeping the valleys of the Brazos and Trinity rivers in central and south central Texas since early in the week. Three thousand persons have been driven to the upper floors of their homes by the rising waters or have been compelled to seek refuge in trees where they remained for hours, in some cases for two days, before being rescued. Estimates of the damage generally center around $4,000,000.

One of the deepest overflows was in the Brazos bottoms of this section, where boats were reported to have been submerged in their homes before they made their final trip to dark this evening. The floods

CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

It is difficult to force a youngster into a marshy place into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the dose mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, quinine. How you hated them. How you fought against taking them.

With our children it is different. Mothers who allow to the old form of physic almost don't believe what they do. The children's appetite is well-founded. Their taste little minded are injured by them.

If your child's stomach aches, bowel movements are slow, etc., try only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive & gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "laxative" handy to know children love to take it. That never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and to a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

How many, many gifts are given at Christmas time because of their stenciled glaze and glitter and the assistance of an oily tongued salesman. Things made only to sell. CABIN NEAR CLYDE SAFE

World was shocked by telephone yesterday from Thomas Wills and Jacob W. Allen who have been living in a cabin in the Witten run near Clyde for the last 10 days. It was feared that the men would want for food but they were found to have a week's supply of food and water. The cabin is owned by the United States Forest Service and is equipped with a telephone, which is the result of the weather the men were unable to get connections with Colorado Springs in the winter.

Here it was that nature lovers roamed yesterday hunting with their cameras for the natural beauty scenes that abounded everywhere. Pine trees, nature's tall pagodas, weighted down with masses of sparkling white crystals, snow covered underbrush, stretching ghost-like arms in wild and mystical confusion, furnished material in abundance.

The work of relieving the poor of the city was well in hand at the Associated Charities yesterday and those in charge of the work are satisfied that they can now meet all demands. More than $75 in cash and much clothing was turned in to the offices yesterday by private individuals. "Of course, we will have ample use for more clothing and money," said Mr. Worcester, "for we never have too much of either. However, we are fairly well provided to meet emergencies at present.

THE BOLEO NOW MORE THAN A MERE ACCESSORY

IT HAS ATTAINED DISTINCTION AS AN INTEGRAL FEATURE OF THE GOWN--SOME LOVELY NEW GOWNS

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Although the birds of fashion have long since returned from their flights across the water, we are assured that the winter season in success an autumn of revelations is to be an epoch of not less imaginative.

Even yet, the perfectly gowned woman of fifth avenue is the object of much scrutiny from a host of dressmakers, milliners, and shoemakers, each endeavoring to catch the style of her shoe, the quality of her veil, the graceful line of her supple corset.

The first point to be borne in upon the mind engaged in planning a winter wardrobe is that fullness of drapery is showing a marked tendency to emanate from the front to the back. Many exclusive shops are showing three tiered pleated effects, which extend from side to side across the back of the skirt. Such a design may be produced in sheer silk poplin, with winged elbow sleeves and normally placed girdle—E-color, and a small Medici collar of fine darned net.

The ample silhouette in front is not to be superfluous at once, however, for as yet the drooping is almost a physical necessity of the uncostumed figure. The fitting blouse-boleo is also an inspiration of natural lines, and supports the skirt without seeming to, above draped or embroidered skirts. It is devalued in flowered silk, plain taffeta, net, or chiffon, and is sometimes smartly finished off by a coatette in black and ebony lace.

Very pretty for the tea hour is the blouse-blouse in the first sketch. This was worn at one of the popular tea parties, which have become such a feature in New York life. The skirt was of bright chiffon velvet, bordered in a full chequered effect, with a lace-trimmed sash for a sash together in a square. The blouse was treated in the same fashion. The simplicity of Net was enhanced by a "shadow" lace at the gathered waistline, and the vivid note of color was supplied by the rich blue satin sash bordered by a solid gold buckle.

The blouse "at 1" is a diminution above that of the "at 2" in a

Callot model of the last silken wool skirt at the waist. The blouse skirt was finely bound with a border of a striped down the left side with large, round, glowing

General Office

BRINGTON, Dec. 6.—Congress
will have an opportunity to do some work, some made in accord-with its own command, for a review in government expenses by the adoption of a standard system for public buildings.

Agency officials have been at work
several months on a preliminary authorized by congress and commanded by the secretary of the treasury.

The general and the adminis-

building would be eliminated, the WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Refusal of the state government to confirm officially or to make any comment on the report this government plans to send observers to Santo Domingo to watch the election, the December 15, is believed here to be due to a protest by the Dominican government.

The Dominican government has told the state department, it was learned, that it will assent to a fair election in held. The sending of Americans to Santo Domingo, even if they went only as observers and not as official representatives of this government, the Dominicans claim in their protest, would practically amount to an open declaration to the rebel elements of the islands that the government was not capable of conducting her elections as previously agreed to with rebel representatives.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Assistant United States District Attorney Frank B. Carstairs, in an effort to end customs undervaluation frauds, which despite the imposition of fines and from year to year, has decided to invoke the law against perjury.

With this object in view, Herman A. Salen, New York representative of Sales and Schröder, in business at 125 Broadway, appeared today in the federal district court to answer an indictment charging perjury in connection with filling of entry papers at the custom house. He pleaded not guilty.

The perjury charge is based upon entry Salen is alleged to have made in February, 1910, of a consignment of jaces sent from Paris through Sales and Schröder. He is alleged to have sworn the entry papers contained a true statement as to the value of imported jaces, which, the government charges, were greatly undervalued to evade the payment of full duty. The alleged frauds, Mr. Carstairs charges aggregates $100,000.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH JAPAN AT STANDSTILL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—It was inferred in official circles here today the channels of diplomatic correspondents between Japan and the United States over the California alien land law have been exhausted without results and no action looking to an adjustment of the dispute must come from a new move by one power or the other.

The correspondence was exhaustive and the last note presented by Japan many weeks ago, finding unanswered at the state department for the reason, it is said, that "Ade the numerous changes, the country is not exactly where it was at the start. It is understood Japan throughout maintained its treaty rights were invaded by the law, while the United States argued as persistently to the contrary."

In all, 43 cases have been investigated, 11 of the offenders being indefinitely held.

Five are being held for murder, three for felonious assault, two for further investigation and one, Robert Ulrich, is being held as a dangerous agitator. Nine were released owing to insufficient evidence and four others are being held for further investigation.

Those held for murder are in connection with the killing of Pedro Jimenez at Aguilar, Angie Alexander, who was killed at Hastings, and Detective Belcher who was killed in a fight.

COLORADO STATE
INSANE ASYLUM
CURES VERY LOW

DENVER, Dec. 6.—Frank McLaughlin of the state civil service commission, especially appointed by Governor Adams to conduct investigation into the management of the state's penal and charitable institutions, tonight filed his report on the state insane asylum at Pueblo, Colo.

McLaughlin, in his report, finds the number of cures in the Colorado institution is under 4 per cent of the cases treated, as compared with from 10 to 30 per cent in other states. He described the fact that the staff of physicians only numbers three to this low percentage. The report recommends the employment of additional scientists and surgeons, so that the patients may be given personal attention oftener than once every two weeks, as his report states is the case at present.

The report recommends that the state purchase a farm of sufficient acreage to give outdoor employment to its patients, and that the state-owned mines be operated by inmates of the penal and charitable institutions. No complaint is made against the administration of the state asylum in the report, and it is recommended that the words "Insane Asylum" be dropped from the institution and the words "detention home" substituted.

ENGLISH LAW
WORKS BOTH WAYS

LONDON, Dec. 6.—London newspapermen are sending to us over a hundred verdicts recovered by one of their number. The hard English law has got work both ways. Mr. Justice and Justice Lee have likewise had success.

The verdicts had been returned in what Charles W. Atkins, a reporter for a news agency, did not consider of sufficient importance to chronicle. The verdicts are mentioned at the end of a letter the news agency says, indicating that "judges on both sides of the Atlantic" have had success.

"In one case," he writes, "the trial of a man accused of the murder of his wife, the jury found him guilty, but the judge, in giving his verdict, said: 'I am sorry to say there is a general lack of public sympathy with the accused. It is to gather on the high table lands of the northwest, the high woods of North Carolina and the hills of California,' added.

On the other hand, in another case,

the trial of a man accused of the murder of his wife, the jury found him guilty.

On the back of the trial, the judge said:

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Armories of the National guard may be used for the housing of Chicago's army of unemployed which is taxing severely the capacity of the municipal lodging house. A request for the use of the armories has been made to Governor Dunne and Adjutant-General Frank S. Dickson.

"Something must be done immediately to relieve this crowded situation at the municipal lodging house," said Superintendent Charles F. Rogers. "The situation is worse than it has ever been before."

"We have accommodations for 175 men and more than 600 apply here every night. They are given places to sleep on the floor. It has been necessary to turn away large numbers every night."

James back may come from over-work, cold settled in the muscles of the back, or from disease. In the two former cases the right remedy is BALMARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It should be rubbed in thoroughly over the affected part, the relief will be prompt and satisfactory. Price 25c. 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

McGRAW'S STORIES ANGER JOHNSON; BRANDED FAKES

Type Dreams on Board Ship Make Ban Peeved; Federals Also Roasted

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The national commission has not abandoned its efforts to suppress the evil of publishing baseball articles alleged to have been written by ball players. According to President Johnson of the American league, who recently branded as fake articles recently published purporting to have come from Manager McGraw of the New York Giants aboard the steamer on which the world's tourists sailed for Japan last month.

President Johnson desired the commission had the signed statement of manager McGraw that his connection with baseball syndicate writers terminated when the Giants and White Sox boarded their steamer, and that any articles purporting to be written by him at a later date than that he published them were unauthorized.

Mr. Johnson further stated that a few York syndicate had petitioned the national commission to allow it use McGraw's name signed to articles concerning the world's tour, but that he was absolutely opposed to this reception of the public.

Will Brand Articles False.
"If the practice continues," said the major league executive, "we shall tickle brand these articles as fakes; then if the newspapers continue publishing them, the public need not be deceived."

At the last world's series McGraw appeared before the commission and stated he was opposed to the practice using players' names connected with titles purporting to have been written by them and that he would discontinue the use of his own name in all forms. In observance of a verbal promise he permitted the use of his name during the trip across the continent of the world's tourists, but that arrangement is strained at Vancouver, said McGraw, after the commission foretold that he was this way as "writer" and that any name on his name would be unethical.

In the face of that a Mr. Parkside has had the right to publish the name of the manager to the New York papers, and has indeed made an attempt to influence chairman of the commission, L. D. Stahl, of the New York club to do his bidding, I understand, but that will not suit. Mr. Lynch will be out of the army Dec. 31, and of course will have no further interest in the sport."

Princeton Changes Coaching Plans; More Open Playing

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 6.—Princeton's graduate coaching committee that here today and Roger P. McCleave, '08, who has been chairman of the football committee during the last two seasons, and Philip K. King, '08, automatically severed their connection from the committee. The other three men—Knowlton Ames, '08; Donald G. Herrick, '01, and Barclay H. Farr, '12, were reelected to the committee by the board of athletic control and they appointed Ames as chairman. Men to fill the two vacant positions were selected upon but their names will not be announced before it is known they will accept.

Mr. Johnson expects to leave for the team on Sunday, and will it be quite possible the deal for the transfer of his ownership in the Princeton American league team would be consummated during the following week.

The complicated case of Outfielder Kavanaugh, who has sold all rights finally to the White Sox, the Federal League, and the Green Bay team of the Lincoln-Illinois league, is likely to be settled by an order for the player-report to the Green Bay team next spring, prepared to fulfill the contract that team which he jumped last year to play with the Chicago Federal League team. The player, however, bought his way to the Cleveland team's contention by demanding one-fourth the price paid to the Green Bay club for Kavanaugh's release. That price was $25,000.

The commission will drop Kavanaugh's boy if he is permitted to return to organized baseball and report Green Bay next spring, and the Green Bay club will be fortunate to have the repayment to Comiskey the $25,000 obtained for the player. Green Bay is liable to a fine for discriminating against Kavanaugh when he was not the service of that club.

Manager Evers of the Cubs departed yesterday afternoon for Troy, N. Y., to go an indefinite period.

Brown Confers With Glowers.

Mordell Brown of the Cincinnati

These pictures show Walter Johnson, left, and Jimmy Clabby, right, in action. Johnson is a pitcher of the American League, and Clabby is a boxer.

Johnson pitched the opening game of the series between the two teams, and Clabby won the second game. Johnson is shown in the middle of his delivery, having just thrown the ball. He is wearing a dark cap and a light-colored jacket. Clabby is standing behind him, looking on. The background shows a baseball field with some equipment and structures.

ALONG THE SPORTSMAN'S BEAT

Athletes had their inning yesterday. A large number of college and high school youths spent the day on the handle of a snow shovel getting in shape for spring athletics.

Report has it that Ben Arra, the big Denver pitcher, will join the Kansas City club of the Federal League. The Indians expect to have a large number of stars next spring and the majors will be the ones to suffer.

There will be another meeting of the committee soon when it expects to announce the new coaches. It was learned from good authority that Ames may not act as head coach next year, but that the committee may select someone else. The committee, acting with the captain of the crew, has power to select the field coaches who have active charge of the training. These men will not be selected until after the committee has been completed.

CLARKE SIGNS TO HEAD PIRATE CLUB IN 1914

PITTSBURG, Dec. 6.—Fred Clarke, manager of the Pittsburgh National league club, today signed a contract to manage the Pirates in 1914.

Arthur Shafer of the Giants has辟了 the rumor that he had not intend to report to McGraw next spring. Shafer who is wintering in California, says that his contract with the New York club has another year to run and that he will be one of the first players to put in an appearance at Marlin, Tex., next spring.

Roger Bresnahan has been mentioned as the next Red manager, but it doesn't bother Roger any. He has managed a team in St. Louis.

Those Red Managers.
They walk right in and turn around and walk right out again. They scarcely have a chance to get acquainted with their men. They sign a contract in the Fall and wait till Spring—and then they walk right in and turn around and walk right out again.

When we reflect on the recent work of Jimmy Clabby we are forced to admit that Eddie McGoorty is one of our cleverest boxers. He has gone to Australia.

"Big Bill" Edwards, the former Princeton star, picks the Harvard eleven intact as his all-American combination.

Not a touchdown was scored in the Harvard-Princeton, Yale-Princeton, or the Harvard-Yale game this season—all the scoring done via the field-goal route.

In the 12 years Fielding H. Yost has coached the University of Michigan football squads, the Wolverines have played 105 regular games winning all but 10 of them.

Harry Robinson of the Maryland Polytechnic is credited with being the best secondary football player in Baltimore. He is a son of Wilbert Robinson, manager-elect of the Brooklyn Ringers.

Since the Harvard-Yale game, Charles Brinkley, the Harvard star, has received all sorts of offers at fancy salaries, including syndicate engagements, playing semi-professional football, coaching football teams, and "boozing" athletic goods. It keeps Charles busy turning down these offers.

The Portland club in the North Western league quit the season just $30 to the good. The Portland team had during the season just leased the poor on financial year in its history and would have been about $2,000 behind had it not been for the money received from drafts.

Arthur Shafer of the Giants has辟了 the rumor that he had not intend to report to McGraw next spring.

Shafer who is wintering in California, says that his contract with the New York club has another year to run and that he will be one of the first players to put in an appearance at Marlin, Tex., next spring.

Penn's big inter-collegiate relay race next spring will, for the first time, assume an international significance by the entrance of an English team from Oxford. Announcement of the foreigner's entrance was made recently.

The system of numbering football players will be given a tryout next season by the members of the Western Inter-collegiate conference. This was decided by the athletic directors of Big Nine's institution.

Two years ago the University of Toronto played Ottawa college the opening game of the season. The University lost. After the game, as the players were going into the dressing room a tiger cat ran across the field. Impaled in a strong bunch some of the visitors men chased the feline and captured it. ## REST UNTO YOUR SOULS"

COME unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart, and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy and my burden is light. (Matt. 11:28-30)

In this nervous, hurried, bustling age
we don't care much for rest. We seek decidedly the opposite. We want excitement and the more the better. Hence the tango and the turkey trot, the picture show and vaudeville, sensational newspapers, racing automobiles and record-
breaking railway trains.

But the trouble with all this is, that the more we have the more we want. Mere excitement can't satisfy anybody long. No set of persons are so often envious as the seekers after excitement. The more sensations they experience, the more they want.
And the time soon comes, even for the one who has most adventures, when excitement palls. And the end is a life disappointed, morose, cynical, purposeless, a soul never
at rest.

The thing the people of America need
now, perhaps now as never before, is rest unto their souls. Too many of us don't even know that we have souls. We have never taken the time to discover what is in us. We are too busy seeking sensation to find our soul the food on which alone it can grow, rest and meditation.

Perhaps in the past certain ages placed too much emphasis on introspection. The monastic system had for its purpose the communion of the soul with God, apart from all the activities of the world. And the inevitable result was fatty degeneration
of soul, just as the inevitable result of too much quiet in one's life is starvation of soul.

Our nervous modern life is not all evil.
There exists today a greater and more sincere desire to do justice to all men than ever before in history. But, along with this battling for social justice there must be that quiet communion of soul through which alone man can keep objects in their right perspective. If we stay too persistently in the thick of the fight we may lose the battle. We need occasionally to get off on a hill from whence we can spy out the lay of the land, and see whether the battle is drifting, how the enemy has drawn his lines.

And the young people of today especially should realize that tangles and automobile rides and general excitement do not make for a peaceful old age. Rest for one's soul is not won in that way. And,
while rest for one's soul may seem the least desirable of achievements in the heyday of youth, it has a far different value as age approaches. Then it is the one thing above all others that counts. The only man of grows old gracefully is the man who has taken time to get acquainted with God
who theretore has transferred his burdens
of worry and anxiety to shoulders better able to bear them than the shoulders of frail humanity who can look back over past years without too great regret and forward to the future with the composure that alone comes to him who is at peace both with God and man.

E. W. GIDDINGS

The sudden death of Mr. E. W. Giddings is a distinct loss to Colorado Springs.
A loss which will be felt in various circles of our civic life where his activities and his influence were exerted. He had been a resident of Colorado for many years and was a man just identified with its growth. He had a large success in merchandising
at Cripple Creek. The Cripple Creek District was open when he was one of the earliest and most successful of the local men who dedicated themselves to the service of their home town.
He died Saturday morning.

With the growth of his fortune Mr. Giddings retired from the mercantile business and devoted himself chiefly to banking and other large private interests. But only those who knew him closely are aware of the extent to which his time and energies were given to the man public causes in which he was interested. He took an active part in the conduct of various organized charities and reformations, aiding them with the sound business experience which often

COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE FOR SUNDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1913.

were even more valuable than his generous contributions of money.

But of all the public organizations in Colorado Springs with which Mr. Giddings was identified, probably the Chamber of Commerce owes most to him. He was an active member of the old body, and in the three years since its reorganization he had been in a position of active leadership, for two years as president, and since last January as chairman of the Finance Committee.
To him it was a labor of love, for he was intensely loyal to Colorado Springs and passionately devoted to the advancement of its broadest and best interests.

To this work he gave his time unsparingly, worked patiently over tedious problems which most men of affairs gladly pass
on to others, and by his enthusiasm brought to the organization the financial support of many corporations and large interests with which he was connected by ties of business or personal friendship. The people of Colorado Springs view the growth and prestige of the Chamber of Commerce
with general satisfaction, but few of them know how much of this is due to the indefatigable efforts of Mr. Giddings.

As one who lived here for many years,
attained his success in life here, and repaid
that success by giving to the city the best that was in him, Mr. Giddings will be sincerely mourned by a wide circle of friends,
and his influence in philanthropic and other public enterprises will be missed by thousands.

NO FUSION IN INDIANA

IT IS an inspiring message to Progressives that Albert J. Beveridge sends from Indiana. Two thousand men and women Progressives, gathered from every county of that state, voted a unanimous and ringing "no" to any suggestion of fusion with either of the old parties. They will fight to the end the fight that was begun in the summer of 1912.

And that's the only ground upon which true Progressives can stand. If they fuse they are lost. No party had a more auspicious birth than the Populist party.
It was formed to cure real and serious evils that have shown should have been ended years ago. Though the Populists had certain vagaries mixed with the principles they championed, yet the body of their platform was sane and wise.
Today Progressives, progressive Republicans and progressive Democrats are merely occupying again the redoubts built years ago by the derided Populists.

And why did they fail? Because their leaders sold out the party for office. And that is just what certain Progressive leaders are advising now—for that, and nothing else, is what the proposal of fusion with the Republicans means. If the Populists had stood unflinchingly for their principles,
who can doubt but that what was erratic
would have been sloughed off, and that all advocates of direct government and other reform would have flocked to the Populists from the two old parties? But, instead of that, the Populists abandoned those principles in order that they, with the Democrats, might divide the offices. And that spelled the end not only of the Populists, but of the Democrats as well, for fusion was followed by sixteen years of exile from the White house.

And that ought to be a warning to Republicans as well as to Progressives. Fusion won't help either party. President Wilson is giving a far more progressive administration than the last Republican president gave, and he can't be dislodged merely by a fusion of a discordant opposition. That would turn thousands of Progressives, and
of independents, to the president's support, simply as a rebuke to the compromising of fice-seekers.

The Indiana Progressives have chosen the only way. There is a place, and a big place for the Progressive party. But the party can occupy that place only if it stands firmly for its principles. It may be another defeat or two will be suffered first,
but in the end the people are going to turn to the Progressive party. But they will not turn to it until they have been convincing that the Progressive party cares more for principle than for office. The way to final victory is not through compromise and fusion, but through steadfast championship of the principles that were set forth in the great Contract with the People.

The big storm has put all men on a footing. Just now, as far as transportation is concerned, the richest man is not the automobile owner or the man who can hire a carriage, but the man with two good stout legs.

Blessed are the peacemakers—for they shall be called the children of God.
Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake—for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
Blessed are ye when men shall revile you and persecute you and shall say all manner of evil
against you falsely for my sake.
Rejoice and be exceeding glad for great is your reward in heaven. (For so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.)

INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY.

To the Editor of the Gazette:
About 11 years ago the people of Colorado voted in to law in favor of an eight hour day for mining and smelting men. The wording of the law was so simple that even a child could understand it.
But the corporate interests did not like the law
because it spelled "conspiracy and direct action" meaning their plundering as they braced up and took the law before the state supreme court. The supreme court reversed the will of the people by a couple of language, that you are able to find in a primer and not clear enough to interpret the law

COLORADO SPRINGS GAZETTE FOR SUNDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1913.

so that a "court of law" can catch its meaning.

Way back in 1881 the tollers of Colorado voted the tax on coal out of the state, and when the bill was introduced in the hills of Cripple Creek, no miner thought that stepped in with such a wild and狂暴的 attitude and deputy should be allowed to be just an insurrection. They dissolved and quiet gradually in the hills until a "good man" was elected Governor of Colorado. Then trouble started in 1890.

It is much like the northern and southern coal fields of the state at present where strikers are accuse of being strike leaders (some of them titled foreigners who never saw Colorado),
by representatives whose knowledge is so exclusive that it makes it impossible for them to understand the man underneath—you know it is all
a matter of environment and education.

Some generous mine owners did not object to unions so long as the meetings are sort of prayer-meetings, accompanying nothing that's what the newspapers call "the unions" comes object to unions because (they say) their membership is mostly "alien and violent." Great discover, isn't it? If the ignorant miners were illiterate and well-fed, no doubt they might be as nice as some of the high salaried lawyers, preachers and editors.
Anyway, what bushwhack a worker's rights to college except to mop the floor and do the dirty work? If he had the means to go to college he would not have to mine coal and be called names
and be jailed as his friends and from society.

Now, there are hard times ahead of us. That is why over the prairies, mountains and lakes of this land, labor is banding together, crystallizing
its forces into one big union and one big parts, aiming at the ultimate goal of the age—industrial democracy.

THE STEVENS PURCHASE SCHEME

From the Denver Daily

City Attorney Stevens, miffed at his turnout
by a progressive party, will launch his personally conducted boom for the United States Senate Monday night under the aegis of a meeting at the Adams
hotel at which "fusion" is the sole topic.

Get the votes no matter what cost, was the attitude adopted by Stevens and his supporters.

The "fusion" was at last by 10 Republicans to a moderate offshoot. Former Senator John B. Stephan delivered a jail-together speech.

The meeting, which is the first open meeting of the new party, will be held Friday evening for a year to work toward a national fusion of Republicans and Democrats for 1914.

The new party leaders announced yesterday
by which a state ticket will be nominated to oppose a progressive candidate for the nomination of the G. O. P. What will the nomination of the California and Colorado trusted unit-

ities, which a few years ago
abandoned soccer football in this better part of the year, now want to return to the Adams game. Soccer is a good substitute for the new football.

Durant says the G. O. P. will be the next president. According to him that means, then, that the G. O. P. will nominate Tammie and on

Big Ones of the Past.

Harriman flinging millions into the gambling pit; John W. Davis and other men of his type leading speculative campaigns which netted them tens of millions; forty-old James R. Keene, engineering pools for many years the American people stood for them and simply laughed.

Then the great crash began. They've never led to the actual governmental formation or abolition of the stock exchange, but they seem to have put it almost hors de combat simply by the force of public opinion.

"Nobody's buying," the brokers say. "We never sell anybody from uptown," complain the hungry eyed ones, meaning that the merchants who accumulate fortunes no longer follow the custom of retiring, sealing themselves next to the tickers, and proceeding gradually to turn their hard earned wealth over to the men of stocks and bonds. The men from "uptown" are coming to realize that it is the brokers game—not theirs.

And the broker is selling his automobile. He's no longer known as the "wine buyer." He's no longer known as the patron saint of the chorus lad. He manages to keep his membership in his clubs and considers himself pretty lucky if he has 15 cents for a whiskey and soda once in a while. It is related that a prominent broker came on the floor the day before election and said to a group of friends: "Boys, we all ought to go to the Sixth district and vote for Bill Sulzer tomorrow, because the man from uptown 'who's bought anything from me for two years'."

There was laughter at this, but of a mirthless variety. The stagnation of stocks is no joke to the brokers. They can stand it for stocks to go up, and they can stand it for them to go down, but when they stand still, good night.

Experiences Worst Day.

The exchange has recently had the worst day's business since 1885, 25 years ago. Only 88,000 shares of stock and 812 bonds changed hands. The figure was figured that each of them would have $1.40 for the day's work if the commissions were divided equally. A dollar and forty cents, not the wages of a man who digs a ditch in those days—and for brokers whose business expense might run to $100 a day each. No wonder there are "organizations" of speculators, among whom the brokers in attendance at a meeting of another character took occasion to come together and exchange their greetings and their counsels. The remaining paragraphs of this column are translated from the letter of Privat.

In Ghent, Belgium, there met more than five hundred Esperantists for the "Esperanto week." In the days just preceding the Berne congress, All took much interest in visiting the world's exposition there in progress, and in the lively theatrical displays with which they were entertained. They also listened to discussions and lectures on methods of Esperanto propaganda. A special public importance was given to their festivities by the honorary protection of the king of Belgium and the official support of the city government, which gave a formal welcome to the Esperantists.

In Stuttgart (Germany) there took place the eighth congress of our German friends. Two hundred members of the German Esperantist association were present, with 30 from foreign lands. According to my custom this annual convention of the German association discharged with order and precision, with military discipline, a very serious program devoted to administrative affairs. The new board of officers under the presidency of Von Frenckell of Dresden, guides with great skill the affairs of the association, which now comprises 187 local groups with 300 members. Chief Justice Hinkel was president of the congress, and it was supported by the city government, and by the local insurance companies.

In Andorra (Spain) the second congress of Hungarian Esperantists met and decided upon a vigorous program for the year. At the world's congress of medicine in London the Esperantists organized a very interesting special session of their own, at which delegations from various lands read papers on medical themes. Professor Johnson of the Dublin university presided, and certain important English journals reported favorably that Esperantists, whose simple language was in strong contrast with the discouraging jargon of medical nomenclature, had done credit to their cause.

STROLL IN PARKS

RUB PAIN FROM LAME BACK
BACKACHE GONE—TRY THIS!

Rub Backache away with a small trial bottle of "St. Jacobs Oil"

LONDON, Dec. 6.—A number of layers of Enfield have been taken this time being their right to stroll in wood parks and paths.

For seven days at a time, the legal owner may have the right to use the estate, and the park paths, for walking and with sledges, carts, dogs, etc., upon the paths. It was agreed that he should obtain the services of a coachman to drive the horses, buggies, broughams and sedan chairs which never disappoints, and does not harm the skin.

Strangely enough, quite commanding, these terrible paths, but in a moment you will forget that you ever had such a walk because it won't last over a mile.

These paths are the same as those in the country, upon the ground that makes the roads.

Addressing the court, the speaker said: "The people included in the park, advanced some apprehensions that small but encroaching trees represented by the growth of trees to use the paths." Tinker to Tompkins, Rose and Crown to the park, the speaker said: "The small trees that grow in the park are congenital to the park."

Many a lifelong career of the park used to consist of a walk in the country as business or studies, and for the pleasure of community. Young people often walk in wood and never dream of competing against the old people in the cause of absence of exercise and road lamps.
